

Breck Parkman's Family, 1797

My Family is now Sixteen in number, 'tho I ever wished to have a small family. Yet it is thus enlarged, viz. My mother, Brother Ebenezer, my self and wife, six Children viz. Hannah, Sukey, Charles, R. Breck, Nancy, and Mary Augusta. Hired men Ephraim and Benjamin Chamberlin, Ephraim Maynard. Maids Kezia Allin and Sally Wood. Jno. Parkman in the Store. We are building a large elegant Store. All the workmen board themselves, except Mr. Blake the master workman is with us a few days. My mother is in a very feeble state, tho' she enjoys pretty good health of Body, yet has lost the use of her limbs so that she is not able to rise out of her Chair alone nor to walk when she is up. Has faltered in her speech so that it is difficult to understand her without giving great attention and is lost in her memory. Brother Parkman is very talkative and somtimes impertinent etc., is able to do some small Choirs.
